

Declaration on modern slavery and human trafficking

1. Preamble

This declaration outlines measures that the Bajaj Mobility Group has taken and will take in the future to prevent modern slavery and human trafficking within the Bajaj Mobility Group and its value chain.

Wherever feasible, a local sourcing strategy is applied at the European production sites to strengthen the respective regions and to establish environmentally sustainable supply chains through reduced transport distances. Furthermore, due to the high legal standards in Austria and other states of the European Union regarding workers' rights, the risk of modern slavery and human trafficking is low. Nevertheless, the Bajaj Mobility Group is heavily dependent on suppliers abroad. Approximately 89 % of the procurement volume for series production at the European sites are sourced from suppliers in Europe, 9 % from Asia and around 2 % from North America. Furthermore, the company develops, industrializes, and assembles motorcycles together with its parent company in India and with strong partners in China, Colombia, Brazil and Argentina.

Considering these international business connections and the increasingly complex value creation and supply chains, we are aware of our responsibility to uphold human rights. Global compliance with sustainability standards, particularly in the areas of human rights (especially concerning child labor and forced labor, as well as labor rights), occupational safety and health protection, environmental protection, and anti-corruption, is a fundamental requirement for successful business operations. We regularly and thoroughly address all relevant risks arising from these topics and manage potential impacts. The basis for this approach is a comprehensive risk assessment covering both the upstream and downstream value chain and the Group's own business operations.

2. Declaration on respect for human rights

People who work directly or indirectly for the Bajaj Mobility Group are entitled to have their human rights within the meaning of the UN Universal Declaration of Human Rights observed, and to be treated with fairness and respect. The Bajaj Mobility Group expects its board members, managers and employees to respect human rights and to protect them in their everyday activities. As human rights risks can inherently arise from collaboration with partners along the value chain, we also require our business partners to respect human rights in our Code of Conduct.

The Bajaj Mobility Group pays attention to ensuring that all employees are treated fairly and respectfully. The aim is to create a working environment characterized by mutual trust in which each individual is treated with dignity and respect, and in which people from diverse cultures and with different personal backgrounds are respected and employees feel comfortable. As an international Group, we value the diversity that is reflected in the origin, culture, language, and ideas of our employees. We therefore do not tolerate any discriminatory behavior towards employees, business partners, suppliers, customers and advisors, nor do we tolerate any form of sexual harassment.

Board members, managers and employees are able to contact the competent office for general compliance issues at any time if they have questions regarding observance of human rights, and to report indications of possible human rights violations within the company at compliance@bajajmobility.com or to the anonymous whistleblower system (see point 3.1. of the Diversity and Anti-Discrimination Policy of the Bajaj Mobility Group). Such indications will be investigated in any case, and measures are taken to resolve potential issues, if required.

3. Internal measures

3.1. Code of Conduct

In 2026, the Bajaj Mobility Group revised its Code of Conduct, which defines the ethical principles, general guidelines, and minimum standards of the company. The establishment of new contractual relationships within the Bajaj Mobility Group is carried out as a matter of course with reference to the Code of Conduct, whose fundamental principles represent non-negotiable minimum standards.

The Code of Conduct is permanently online available to all employees on the intranet and to third parties on the company website. The Code of Conduct is prominently featured on the Group's intranet on an annual basis and distributed to new employees as part of their welcome package. Further, the Bajaj Mobility Group offers tailored trainings to promote awareness of compliance matters. Evidently, Compliance trainings are extended to managers and staff in sensitive areas such as Human Resources, Purchasing, Sales, Research and Development, Marketing, and Quality Management as well as executive board members, supervisory board members, and general managers.

3.2. Whistleblower system

Every employee can report possible rule violations, such as breaches of human rights or suspicions of such violations, to the designated compliance contact point via email, phone, letter, or in person. The Bajaj Mobility Group has implemented an anonymous whistleblower system that allows both employees and business partners, as well as any third party, to submit anonymous reports of rule violations. To best maintain the anonymity of the whistleblower and the confidentiality of future reports, a system from an external, independent provider has been put in place. The whistleblower system is available to all employees of the Bajaj Mobility Group, their business partners, and third parties around the clock in English as well as in the local language of the whistleblower at the link <https://bajajmobility.integrityline.com/>. The anonymous whistleblower system warrants the highest possible protection for whistleblowers and those affected. When dealing with and investigating suspicious cases, the principle of objective clarification as well as strict confidentiality and secrecy applies. If a suspicious case is confirmed, the Bajaj Mobility Group will take appropriate measures depending on the severity and relevance of the rule violation. The exchange of information and messages with the legal department takes place via a secure mailbox maintaining the anonymity and protection of the whistleblower. All reports are treated as strictly confidential. All information is examined and, if a suspicious case is confirmed, appropriate measures are taken to remedy and eliminate possible grievances. Whistleblowers do not need to fear any sanctions from the Bajaj Mobility Group from a report of a suspicious case which is submitted to the best of their knowledge and belief, and absolutely no discrimination against whistleblowers will be tolerated.

Employees and third parties have permanent access to the anonymous whistleblower system, along with explanations of how it works, the principles of confidentiality, the protection of the whistleblower's anonymity, and protection against retaliation. In addition, employees are informed about the various options for reporting compliance violations as part of the e-learning program "Compliance and Code of Conduct".

4. Measures in the supply chain

4.1. Sustainability Assessment

In order to make the supply chain more sustainable, a due diligence approach with corresponding process steps has been developed to identify, among other things, potential human rights risks and their impacts at an early stage. This process is based on various sources, such as country indices and supplier-provided information. This approach makes it possible to identify risks at an early stage, prevent them and, where necessary, initiate appropriate measures. Following the review of the relevant data against the Bajaj Mobility Group's minimum requirements and the corresponding assessment, suppliers may, where appropriate, be assigned measures to ensure compliance with these requirements. The minimum requirements are based on the standards of the Bajaj Mobility Group.

4.2. Ensuring Minimum Standards

The Code of Conduct is integrated into all new contracts. Every contractual partner seeking to engage in business with the Bajaj Mobility Group is required to acknowledge and adhere to the ethical principles and values, expected behavior and responsibilities of individuals as well as minimum common standards defined in the Code of Conduct.

The Bajaj Mobility Group takes the following steps to enforce compliance with human rights:

- 4.2.1. Prevention: The Code of Conduct is integrated into all new contracts, making the adherence to human rights an inherent contractual obligation for partners.
- 4.2.2. Investigation: Upon receiving reports of alleged human rights violations or breaches of the Code of Conduct through tips, media coverage, or other means, the Bajaj Mobility Group promptly initiates investigations.
- 4.2.3. Response: Where human rights violations or other breaches of the Code of Conduct are identified as part of an internal review, the Bajaj Mobility Group shall initiate the necessary measures. The central objective is to remedy and prevent such violations. In severe cases or instances of non-compliance, the Bajaj Mobility Group retains the right to terminate existing business relationships and suspend future project assignments.
